

Our family listens almost exclusively to K-LOVE on our local station 94.7. We are a Navy family, facing frequent relocation and acclimation to new locations. This summer, we moved to Memphis and K-LOVE added tremendously to our spiritual stability as we faced the stressors of setting up a new home with a very young family. It also served to orient us to various local organizations that provided activities that support our family values. K-LOVE also provided our whole family with a wonderful place to share the music and the message, fostering greater family unity. If K-LOVE were to be displaced by an LPFM broadcaster in our area, our family would suffer...in fact, it would literally be life-impacting, for the worse. Without its uplifting, encouraging influence, we would experience a type of spiritual starvation, losing a vital and critical source of strength and nourishment.

The community would also suffer loss, because K-LOVE's message contains the power to change lives. By moving individuals from destructive habits and practices that drain community resources and pride, K-LOVE promotes "other-centered" life styles that build up the community. K-LOVE also promotes community fellowship, quality of life, and resource sharing through public announcements of local events and opportunities. I know of no other local station that provides this public service. All of this would be lost without K-LOVE.

Please for the sake of this military family and the Memphis community, do not enact rule changes that would deny us access to K-LOVE and ultimately so adversely impact our lives. Thank you for carefully considering your impact on our family, community and nation.

Sincerely
Pamela M. Kelley
